

BLOG 44

Haven't written a blog for such a long time, & now have skipped a few months as we are in Jan now at the start of a new year. We began with a spectacular trip up to Tourtour to a friend's house which normally has a great view, but sadly it was the one day in the week when it rained & was cloudy. I know we need the rain desperately but still, it was a shame on this occasion.

However, we are still a nice group of local artists who normally meet once a week in a very convenient location in Cotignac, so on we go. I will continue to post suggestions, but as ever anyone who comes to the weekly sessions can also paint whatever subject that takes their fancy.

Let's see what 2024 brings- watch this space.
