

BLOG 39

Time has once again vanished & we are now into a new year, so hopefully all will be well with continuing Mim's easy-art site, & the weekly live art sessions chez a friend in Cotignac. There is the usual band of enthusiastic painters who gather together, & as ever I find a new subject for them to try, or of course they can choose their own painting to try- it is all very relaxed & easy as the name of the group denotes!

It is always fun to experiment & those two hours just vanish, but a nice way to switch off for every one, so on we go....